After 8 months of living with the COVID-19 pandemic, we have learned a lot about viruses. However, in this age of media and polarizing influences we have been flooded with information that has raised more questions. In this talk we will cover the basic truth about COVID-19, public health measures, epidemiology, and safety. We will also cover the societal impacts of this pandemic and relate it to pandemics of the past. This will include covering health outcomes, mental health, politicizing public health, economic impacts, environmental effects, and the power of social media. This presentation will provide some perspective into moving forward through understanding, critical evaluation, and reflecting on our place in the world.

Free community event! This event may be recorded.
