Cybercriminals are constantly attempting to gain access to our data, devices, and accounts. Many of these attacks are not aimed at specific individuals or groups, so everyone is a target. Join us at this session to find out why we are being targeted, and for some tips that will help you protect yourself from these attacks.

Session summary:

- why our devices, accounts, and data have value to the attackers
- a quick overview of a few common attacks
- best practices for keeping your devices, accounts, and data secure
- tips for identifying some of the most common attacks including phishing and social engineering
- a few methods for creating strong passwords you can remember

Free community event! Refreshments & Door prizes!
